To Whom It May Concern:

Re: R. Michael Hackley, Architect

We want you to know that Special Olympics International has been most pleased with the architectural design work which Mr. R. Michael Hackley has done to provide our International Headquarters with functional and attractive offices.

In mid-1984, we found it necessary to move the International Headquarters of Special Olympics from 1701 "K" Street, N.W. Having seen and been impressed with the work which Mr. Hackley had done to design and equip the offices of the Park Agency and Joseph P. Kennedy Enterprises in New York, we retained Mr. Hackley to assist and advise us in selecting a new location for Special Olympics International Headquarters, do the architectural design of our new offices and oversee the internal construction of them. We also had him assist us in decorating our new offices. Mr. Hackley carried out these multiple assignments in a highly professional manner. He was able to negotiate favorable prices from contractors and suppliers. He worked closely and cooperatively with me and key members of the Headquarters staff.

In mid-1986, we found it necessary to expand our offices at 1350 New York Avenue, N.W. and turned to Mr. Hackley for the same services that he had previously provided. He handled the office expansion work in the same professional manner as he had done previously in setting up International Headquarters at 1350 New York Avenue, N.W.

We continue to be pleased with the design, layout and decor of our International Headquarters and invite you to visit us to see what Mr. Hackley created.

Sincerely,

Robert M. Montague, Jr.
Executive Director
